

North Leamington School

SEND Policy

November 2021

Approval and Review

This Policy is reviewed in discussion with staff and governors.

Effective from: November 2021

Approved by:

Review date: November 2022

Review leader: Senior Assistant Head teacher/SENCO

1. Aims

North Leamington School is a fully inclusive environment where we aim to identify educational needs effectively and provide the support necessary to enable students to make progress. The whole staff work collaboratively to ensure that barriers to learning are removed and students are enabled to achieve.

Our SEND (special educational needs and disabilities) policy aims to:

- Set out how our school will support and make provision for students with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND)
- Explain the roles and responsibilities of everyone involved in providing for students with SEND

2. Legislation and guidance

This policy and the SEND Information Report are based on the statutory Special Educational Needs and Disability \(SEND\) Code of Practice and the following legislation:

- Part 3 of the Children and Families Act 2014, which sets out schools' responsibilities for students with SEND
- The Special Educational Needs and Disability Regulations 2014, which set out schools' responsibilities for education, health and care (EHC) plans, SEND Coordinators (SENCOs) and the SEND Information Report

This policy also complies with our funding agreement and articles of association as an Academy.

3. Definitions

A pupil has SEND, if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for them.

They have a learning difficulty or disability if they have:

- A significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age, or
- A disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools

Special educational provision is educational or training provision that is additional to, or different from, that made generally for other children or young people of the same age by mainstream schools.

4. Roles and responsibilities

4.1 The SENCO

The designated SENCO is Mrs Julie McBride.

They will:

- Work with the Headteacher, and SEND governor to determine the strategic development of the SEN policy and provision in the school
- Have day-to-day responsibility for the operation of this SEND policy and the co-ordination of specific provision made to support individual students with SEND, including those who have EHC plans
- Provide professional guidance to colleagues and work with staff, parents, and other agencies to ensure that students with SEND receive appropriate support and high quality teaching

- Coordinate appropriate CPD (continued professional development) /training for all staff, and advise on the graduated approach to providing SEND support
- Advise on the deployment of the school's delegated budget and other resources to meet students' needs effectively
- Be the point of contact for external agencies, especially the local authority and its support services
- Liaise with potential next providers of education to ensure students and their parents are informed about options and a smooth transition is planned
- Work with the Headteacher and governing board to ensure that the school meets its responsibilities under the Equality Act 2010 with regard to reasonable adjustments and access arrangements
- Ensure the school keeps the records of all students with SEND up to date

4.2 The SEND governor

The SEND governor will:

- Help to raise awareness of SEND issues at governing board meetings
- Monitor the quality and effectiveness of SEND provision within the school and update the governing board on this
- Work with the Headteacher and SENCO to determine the strategic development of the SEN policy and provision in the school

4.3 The Headteacher

The Headteacher will:

- Work with the SENCO and SEND governor to determine the strategic development of the SEN policy and provision in the school
- Have overall responsibility for the provision and progress of learners with SEND

4.4 Class teachers

Each class teacher is responsible for:

- The progress and development of every pupil in their class
- Working closely with any teaching assistants or specialist staff to plan and assess the impact of support and interventions and how they can be linked to classroom teaching
- Working with the SENCO to review each pupil's progress and development and decide on any changes to provision
- Ensuring they follow this SEND policy
- Acting on advice and assessment outcomes provided by the SENCO/specialist staff

5. SEND information Report

See Appendix 1. The SEND Information Report can also be found on the school's website

6. Monitoring arrangements

This policy and information report will be reviewed by the SENCO every year. It will also be updated if any changes to the information are made during the year.

It will be approved by the governing board.

This Information Report is guided by the principles of the Special Educational Needs and Disability \(SEND\) Code of Practice and the following legislation:

- Part 3 of the Children and Families Act 2014, which sets out schools' responsibilities for students with SEND
- The Special Educational Needs and Disability Regulations 2014, which set out schools' responsibilities for education, health and care (EHC) plans, SEND Coordinators (SENCOs) and the SEND Information Report

At NLS all students are valued equally. We recognise that students with special educational needs and/or disabilities (SEND) given the right environment and support will find a successful way in the world.

At NLS every teacher is a teacher of SEND through effective wave 1 teaching. The whole school commitment to SEND provision entails regular training for all staff.

The IEN (Individual Educational Needs) Faculty has been developed to provide the additional and different support students with SEND may need. This includes physical adaptations.

SEND Provision:

North Leamington School provides additional and/or different provision for a range of needs, including:

- Communication and interaction, for example, autistic spectrum condition, speech and language difficulties
- Cognition and learning, for example, dyslexia, dyspraxia, moderate learning difficulties
- Social, emotional and mental health difficulties,
- Sensory and/or physical needs, for example, visual impairments, hearing impairments, processing difficulties, medical needs for example epilepsy

All teaching staff and support staff are aware of the school's procedures for identifying, supporting and assessing and making provision for students with SEND. All teachers are responsible for planning an inclusive curriculum and acting as the primary source of support for students with SEND. All teaching staff and Teaching assistants (TAs) have training throughout the year on how to provide wide curriculum and how to meet the learning and social needs of students with SEND.

Identifying students with SEND and assessing their needs:

We assess each student's current skills and levels of attainment on entry. Class teachers make regular assessments of progress for all students and identify those whose progress:

- is significantly slower than that of their peers starting from the same baseline
- fails to match or better the student's previous rate of progress
- fails to close the attainment gap between the student and their peers
- widens the attainment gap.

This may include progress in areas other than attainment, for example, social needs.

Slow progress and low attainment will not automatically mean a student is recorded as having SEND.

When deciding whether special educational provision is required, we will start with the desired outcomes, including the expected progress and attainment, and the views and the wishes of the student and their parents. We will use this to determine the support that is needed and whether we can provide it by adapting our core offer, or whether something different or additional is needed. We employ a range of assessment methods for identifying SEND.

Consulting and involving students and families:

Our partnership with families is very important to us. The school has many forums for parents/carers to be included in their student's school life.

We discuss concerns with the student and their parents/carers when identifying whether they need special educational provision. These conversations will make sure that:

- everyone develops a good understanding of the student's areas of strength and difficulty
- we take into account the parents' concerns
- everyone understands the agreed outcomes sought for the student
- everyone is clear on what the next steps are.

Assessing and reviewing students' progress towards outcomes:

We will follow the graduated approach and the four-part cycle of assess, plan, do, review.

Subject teachers work with the SENCO to carry out a clear analysis of the student's needs. This will draw on:

- teachers' assessment and experience of the student
- their previous progress, attainment and behaviour
- the individual's development in comparison to their peers and national data
- the views and experience of parents
- the student's own views
- advice from external support services, if sought.

All teachers and support staff who work with the student will be made aware of their needs, the outcomes sought, the support provided, and any teaching strategies or approaches that are required. We will regularly review the effectiveness of the support and interventions and their impact on the student's progress.

Our approach to teaching students with SEND:

Teachers are responsible and accountable for the progress and development of all the students in their class. High quality wave 1 teaching is our first step in responding to students who have SEND. This will be differentiated for individual students by:

- ensuring knowledge and understanding of students' individual needs including medical ones
- adapting our curriculum to ensure all students are able to access it, for example, by grouping, 1:1 work, teaching style, content of the lesson, etc.
- adapting/differentiating our resources and staffing

- using recommended aids, such as laptops, coloured paper or overlays, visual timetables, larger font, etc.
- adapting our teaching, for example, giving longer processing times, pre-teaching of key vocabulary, reading instructions aloud, etc.
- adapting the environment, for example seating plans, bespoke furniture.
- Ensuring access arrangements are in place where relevant

Accessibility:

The school aims to be fully accessible for students with disabilities. There are lifts and ramps in all buildings. A bridge links three of the Faculty buildings at first floor level. The IEN Faculty supports movement around the site or provides alternative rooming if necessary. A key part of the Equality Act is “... extending the reasonable adjustment duty to require schools to provide auxiliary aids and services to disabled students. Following the ... consultation on implementation and approach, this duty was introduced in September 2012”. (DfE website)

Our extra-curricular activities and school visits are available to all our students. All students are encouraged to go on our residential trips and take part in sports day/school performances etc. No student is ever excluded from taking part in these activities because of their SEND.

Students with SEND may be more vulnerable to forms of bullying and harassment. Staff are trained to understand, recognise and offer support to all students as part of our Child protection procedures.

Additional support for learning:

The IEN Faculty staff are trained and experienced in supporting SEND including autism (ASC), ADHD (attention - deficit hyperactivity disorder), SpLD (dyslexia, dyspraxia/DCD), visual impairment, hearing impairment, physical disability, acquired brain injury, attachment disorder, social and emotional difficulties, mental health difficulties.

Through Annual Reviews of EHCPs and review meetings with the IEN key worker, individualised outcomes for a student are discussed and ways to achieve those outcomes planned. These outcomes are shared with subject teachers

Access Arrangements for exam work are applied for after specific internal testing has taken place: this may lead to extra time, a reader or scribe for all exam work in Years 10 or 11. A professional with the relevant level 7 recognised qualification carries out this work and liaises with the exams officer and SENCO.

Interventions:

As well as employing the IEN staff expertise in/for the classroom, a range of interventions are available including Lego Therapy, SALT (speech and language therapy), Thrive intervention, self-esteem, protective behaviours, social skills and preparation for adulthood intervention. 1:1 mentoring is very common, helping students to organise for school and life, supporting them through difficult times e.g. bereavement or targeted exam preparation.

Working with other agencies:

North Leamington School also work with external agencies and specialists, such as Warwickshire local authority support services, SEND Supported (specialist support service including autism), IDS (Integrated Disability Service), EPS (Educational Psychology Service), and the NHS physio- and speech and language therapists, CAMHS and the school's health service. We also work with other educational settings such as to provide a bespoke package for students where relevant.

Parents/carers are fully involved in this process.

Transition

We work closely with our primary school partners to ensure transition is as smooth as possible, giving additional opportunities to visit for those students identified as more vulnerable than their peers. We also work with our own Sixth Form, with Warwickshire College and other further education providers to support students into the post-16 phase of their education. We share information with the school, college, or other setting the student is moving to/from, as agreed with parents/carers and students. Our CIAG (Careers Information, advice and guidance) department works with us to ensure best practice for preparation into adulthood.

Evaluating the effectiveness of SEND provision:

We carefully and regularly monitor and review our work within the whole school's systems, which includes "student voice". Our graduated response ensures that we move students on to the next level of support where required, and where we have evidence of positive impact allow the student greater independence.

We evaluate the effectiveness of provision for students with SEND by:

- Regular review of the school's SEND policy (available on the school's website)
- reviewing students' individual progress
- monitoring data tracked by school
- reviewing the impact of interventions
- using student and family questionnaires
- holding annual reviews for students with statements of SEND or EHC plans
